

INCRESCENDO CONSULTORES, S.L. was established in its current legal form in 2007 in Seville, with the aim of providing professional services in the field of civil engineering. This includes project development, construction management, technical reporting, and other consulting activities.

From the outset, the company has been grounded in offering a diverse range of services within civil engineering, supported by a network of specialist collaborators.

The ethos of INCRESCENDO CONSULTORES, S.L. encompasses growth, not only in terms of staff numbers but also in geographic scope and a clear focus on serving major account clients.

The Management adopts this policy as a framework for setting quality objectives, based on the principles of effective business and quality management, and high customer satisfaction. These principles are intended to drive the organization towards global growth, understood as an increase in the number of employees, clients, geographic reach, etc.

The Management of INCRESCENDO CONSULTORES, S.L. leads the organization's quality management, committing to meeting client requirements and applicable legal obligations, while continuously improving the effectiveness of the quality management system.

Furthermore, the Management of INCRESCENDO CONSULTORES, S.L. takes responsibility for communicating and explaining the quality policy within the organization and for its regular review to ensure ongoing relevance and adequacy.

David Ramírez Bertelli
Director